ROYAL NAVY The Senior Captain

(Special Air Mail Service)
London, May 29.
Recent changes on the flag list have brought Captain Errol Manners, A.D.C., to the top of the list of captains. During the past two years he has commanded H.M.S. Suffolk in China, and it is quite possible that he may be promoted to flag rank before the return home of that vessel. She is due to leave the station about June 15 to undergo large repairs in England.

Captain Manners will be 52 on June 29. He is one of the 10 captains promoted on June 30, 1933. Five of them have already been advanced to the flag list, but none was promoted under the age of 50, as was generally the case before the war. Rear-Admiral H. T. England was 50 years and 10 months; Rear-Admiral J. A. Edgell (Hydrographer) was 54 and 2 months; Rear-Admiral L. D. I. MacKinnon was 52 and 3 months; Rear-Admiral R. H. O. Lane-Poole was 52 and 1 month; and Rear-Admiral B. H. Ramsay 52 and 3 months. In comparison with these ages on promotion it may be recalled that all the principal commanders of British fleets in the war reached flag rank before they were 50.

GORDON SHEPARD PRIZE
Lieutenant Neil McIntyre Kemp, R.N. (Flying Officer, R.A.F.), who has won the first prize in the Gordon Shepherd Memorial Essay Competition of the R.A.F., is the first naval officer to gain a prize in this competition. Lieutenant Kemp entered Dartmouth College as a naval cadet in January, 1924. He became a sub-lieutenant in March, 1931, and it was after serving as such in the sloop Harebell that he was accepted for flying training as a pilot in the Fleet Air Arm in September, 1932. He was promoted to lieutenant while under training in May, 1933. In September of that year he was appointed to No. 812 Squadron of torpedo bombers, and has served with this unit in the carriers Glorious and Furious. At present the squadron is disembarked at Hal Far, Malta, awaiting the return of the Glorious to the Mediterranean.

In 1931 Lieutenant Kemp won the gold medal of the Royal United Service Institution and the first Trench-Gascoigne Prize—the first occasion since the start of that competition in 1874 that it had been won by an officer of the rank of sub-lieutenant.

EAST INDIES SQUADRON
The cruiser Norfolk, Captain L. H. K. Hamilton, D.S.O., reached Trincomalee on Tuesday from England. She is to become flagship of the Commander-in-Chief, East Indies, Vice-Admiral F. F. Rose, C.B., D.S.O., in succession to the Hawkins, now in reserve. Vice-Admiral Rose's flag has been flying temporarily in the Emerald, Captain J. G. Grace. The Norfolk will leave Trincomalee on May 31 and Colombo on June 6 for her first cruise on the station, which will be to Mauritius and African ports, returning to Colombo on August 31. The Emerald will also leave Colombo on June 6, after her present refit, for an African cruise until September. The Colombo, Captain C. E. B. Simeon, which has been at Bombay during the Jubilee period, left on Wednesday for Karachi for a fortnight, and is due at Colombo on June 5.

BROKE AND BROKE

London, May 29.
A ship with a famous name will be flagship of the Reserve destroyers for the Fleet Review. She is the Broke. She is not the wartime Broke. She is a flotilla leader named after that ship. The wartime Broke is no longer in the British Fleet. The Admiralty bought her from Chile on the outbreak of war, and after the war she went back to Chile. She is now the Almirante Uribe.

KING TO HONOUR MARIE TEMPEST

Will Attend Matinee
With Queen

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.
The King has intimated that he will accompany the Queen to the Marie Tempest Jubilee Matinee, organised by "The Daily Telegraph," at Drury Lane Theatre this afternoon.

It had already been announced that the Queen had consented to attend the Matinee, the proceeds of which are for founding the Marie Tempest Ward for actors and actresses in St. George's Hospital.

The performance will begin at 2.30 p.m. promptly. Ticket holders requested to be in their places not later than 2.15 p.m.

Their Majesties will see more than 250 actors and actresses taking part in the performance. Among them will be most of the famous stars of the English stage.

Those who have been unable to secure matinee tickets will be able to help to endow the Marie Tempest Ward at St. George's Hospital through the Marie Tempus Fund, which is still open. While the proceeds of the matinee will be used for the foundation of the ward, further funds will be required to endow it. Donations may be sent to the Editor of "The Daily Telegraph," or to Lord Greville at St. George's Hospital, Hyde Park Corner, W.

DUKE OF KENT'S THANKS
Miss Tempest yesterday received the following letter from the Duke of Kent, president of the hospital, thanking her for selecting St. George's:

Dear Miss Tempest—As President of St. George's Hospital, I should like to thank you for having chosen St. George's in which to found the Marie Tempest Ward for actors and actresses.

I regret very much that I am unable to be present in person at this matinee, and I should like to wish you and all connected with it a very successful performance. Yours sincerely, GEORGE.

Mr. Richard Sicket, the artist, announced yesterday that he is painting a portrait of Miss Marie Tempest "on the same scale as his portrait of Viscount Castlereagh," now on exhibition at the Royal Academy. When completed, said Mr. Sicket, the portrait will be put up to auction at Christie's by Sir Alec Martin, and the proceeds will be devoted to the Marie Tempest Ward.

Mr. James Agate, dramatic critic of the "Sunday Times," will broadcast a five minutes' talk to-night on the matinee and Miss Marie Tempest. He will speak of necklines and were drawn during the second news bulletin of the National programme, which begins at 9.30.

M'CORMACK ON TOUR

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.
Passing years seem to touch Count John McCormack but lightly, and recently he refused to admit that the extensive world tour upon which he is shortly to set forth is in the nature of an odyssey of farewell. In the autumn Count McCormack begins a series of over 40 concerts throughout the British Isles. He is due to sing at Glasgow, Edinburgh, Dundee, and Aberdeen in the latter half of October. Afterwards he leaves for Egypt, and will give three concerts in Jerusalem before proceeding to India, Java, Sumatra, Japan, China, and thence back to the United States via Australia and New Zealand. This will be the longest tour the famous Irish tenor has undertaken, and during its progress he hopes to secure the approval of the public for his latest song. This is entitled "Song of the Sea," and is based on a Hebridean melody.

The scheme for the re-building of the south station of Chengchow, central Honan, on the Lung-Hai Railway, has been approved by the Railway Administration. The work is estimated to cost $600,000.

The work of altering the course of the Peking-Suiyuan Railway, at the section between Pingliuchuan and Chotushan (mountain) in south-western Chahar, was started on March 9 with removal of the rails in the existing track. Work will be completed in three months and traffic on the new route will be operated at the end of May. Over 7,000 men are engaged on the job.

In order to improve the tracks and roadbed of the Hunan-Hubei section of the Canton-Hankow Railway, which have fallen into decay, it is reported that the Ministry of Railways has approached the Board of Trustees in charge of the British Boxer Indemnity Refund for a loan of $200,000. The loan will be secured on the receipts of the line.

Train service on the newly completed Tairchuang-Chaochow branch of the Lung-Hai Railway, on the Shantung-Kiangsi border, was inaugurated on March 1. Messrs. Wu Shih-en and Tang Yao-tang, members of the Railway Administration, officiated at the ceremony. The line is to be used mainly for coal transportation.

LOWER ZAMBESI BRIDGE

The World's Longest Railway Bridge

The Lower Zambesi Bridge, which has recently been built by The Cleveland Bridge & Engineering Co. at a cost of $1,400,000, has the proud distinction of being the longest railway bridge in the world, with a total length of 11,650 ft. 9 in. Although under normal conditions the actual width of the river is rather less than half this figure, at high flood the total width from bank to bank is over 11,000 ft., or rather more than 2 miles.

The bridge consists of 33 main spans and 8 approach spans the main spans being supported by concrete piers on concrete wells sunk in the river, or on the rock of the river bank. The construction of these piers was a considerable task in itself and for the actual sinking of the caissons six 5 ft. De Laval type steam turbine generators were supplied by Greenwood and Batley Ltd., of Leeds, for the important work of providing lighting and power below the level of the river bed.

The importance of the new bridge lies in the fact that it allows through communication between the port of Belra and Mozambique with Nyassaland, Lake Nyasa and North Eastern Rhodesia.

Messrs. Harland and Wolff, Ltd., North Woolwich, London, have received an order from Messrs. The Thames Steam Tug and Lighterage Company, Limited, for six decked swim barges, 81 ft. 3 in. length and to carry 180 tons.

POWERFUL FIRE FLOAT

Interesting Craft Built At Cowes

Much interest has been inspired in engineering circles by small but technically important vessel—the fire float Massey Shaw—recently built by Messrs J. Samuel White and Co., Ltd., Cowes.

Built to the order of the London County Council for the fire-fighting and salvage service on the Thames, the Massey Shaw is reputed to be the most powerful fire float in Europe. Principal particulars of the vessel are:—Length, 78 ft.; breadth moulded, 12 ft.; extreme breadth, 13 ft.; draught, 3 ft.; speed about 12 knots; and total h.p. of engines, 320.

The vessel will be able to pass under all the Thames bridges in her service area at any state of the tide, and the design will also permit of operation in shallow waters and narrow canals.

CONSTRUCTION OF HULL

The form of the vessel was specially designed by the builders and tested in the Teddington Tank with a view to the reduction of wave formation and wash to an absolute minimum when travelling at full service speed. The building was carried out under the special survey of Lloyd's Register of Shipping, and this will entitle the vessel to be classed 100 A.1 for the intended service. The requirements of the Board of Trade and the Port of London Authority are also fully complied with.

The hull is constructed throughout of steel, which was galvanised after working, punching, and drilling. It is divided into five watertight compartments, the foremost and aftermost being peaks which can be used for the stowage of anchor chains and spare gear.

The machinery compartment, which is amidships and occupies more than one-third of the vessel's total length, is arranged for the propelling and pumping machinery, also fuel tanks and auxiliary generators and compressors.

Forward of the engine-room is a large hose and store-room. Here all hoses and other fire appliances can be conveniently stowed, and are readily accessible in case of an emergency.

THE ACCOMMODATION

Accommodation for the officers and crew is provided abaft of the engine-room, and consists of a large cabin, a galley, and lavatory. Dining arrangements are made in the cabin for eight men, sleeping accommodation is only required for a limited number, and the settees on either side of the cabin can be used for this purpose.

Natural ventilation is provided for all compartments, but in addition thereto mechanical arrangements are provided for ventilating the engine-room. Two beltings are fitted in each side of the vessel as a protection when running alongside other craft.

PROPELLING MACHINERY

The main propelling machinery was built by Gleniffer Engines, Ltd., Annlelland, and consists of two Gleniffer model D.C. 3-cylinder, high-speed Diesel engines, each developing 160 b.h.p. when running at 900 r.p.m. The engines are fitted with mechanical reverse gears integral with the engine. The stern gears incorporate the Vickers system of stern tube lubrication.

The drive for the fire pump is taken off the forward end of the engine through expanding type friction clutches.

FIRE-FIGHTING EQUIPMENT

The fire-fight equipment comprises two 8-inch turbine fire pumps each capable of 1200 gallons per minute at 125 lb. per square inch delivery pressure, giving a total of 2400 gallons per minute when working in parallel. When coupled in series the output will be 1200 gallons per minute at 250 lb. per square inch.

The auxiliary machinery consists of two J.S.W. two-cylinder Diesel engines direct-coupled to Mawley generators and driving Hamworthy starting air compressors through clutches. Also first-aid pumps for fire-fighting service are chain driven from these engines through friction clutches.

THE SHIPBUILDING INDUSTRY

Activities In Shipyards At Home

The contract that has been placed with the Greenock Dockyard Company for a 10,500-ton cargo steamer for the Scottish Shire Line, as announced is the first order of importance booked on the Clyde since early in April.

Of the mercantile work on hand in the Clyde district not more than four vessels are over 10,000 tons, and altogether there are some 50 commercial vessels and 20 warships on order in this area, which shows that many of the vessels are of relatively small tonnage.

Since the beginning of the year Clyde firms have received orders for about 20 vessels, comprising four Admiralty ships, two oil tankers, two passenger and cargo steamers of about 4000 tons gross each, one motor cargo vessel, three motor coasters, two dredgers, the Scottish Shire liner just ordered, and a number of tugs and other small craft.

Numerically but not in tonnage the Clyde has obtained more orders than the other shipbuilding centres.

The outlook is not very bright, but a few cargo steamer orders are expected to be placed soon.

Compared with the Clyde's 20 orders this year North-East Coast yards have received 14 vessels, which shows an all-round improvement in 1934. These have comprised seven for the Tyne, four for the Wear, two for the Tees, and one for West Hartlepool. During the same period 11 ships have been launched.

ALL-WELDED TANKER

The launching of the all-welded ship Moura marked another step in the industrial progress of the Tyne, which has been described as a "river of invention." There is not a single rivet in the vessel's whole structure. The Moura has been built for the Marnia Company, of Oslo, and is 245 ft. long, 42 ft. 2 in. wide, and will carry 2240 tons of oil.

In addition to welding there are two other interesting features about her. There is Messrs Arnesen's patent cleaning apparatus, a most ingenious device enabling either steam or hot water to be sprayed on the interior surfaces of the tanks. When hot water is used a solution of caustic soda can be added, and in this way the cleaning of the oil tanks is greatly simplified and accelerated.

A new type of steering gear by Messrs Donkin of the electric hydraulic type has been fitted, which will tend for greater safety at sea and go a long way towards eliminating breakdowns. The propelling machinery is placed in the after end and consists of a compound reciprocating engine working in conjunction with Swan Hunter's Bauer-Wach system.

SCRAP-AND-BUILD ORDERS

Further information is available of the reported orders placed with the Furness Shipbuilding Company, Ltd., Haverton Hill-on-Tees, under the scrap-and-build scheme. The vessels are understood to be of 9200 tons each, and the engines are to be supplied by Messrs William Doxford and Sons, Sunderland.

Mr. Robert Haswell, managing director of Doxford's informed me—"It is known that Sir W. Reardon Smith and Sons, Ltd., have placed orders for new tonnage on the North-East. The hulls will be built by the Furness Shipbuilding Company, and we shall supply the engines. A proportion of this tonnage is subject to the approval of the Scrap and Build Committee, and until the owners have received the approval of the Government no further details are available."

These orders have come at an opportune time for the Tees, for last week the Furness Shipbuilding Company launched the last vessel on the building berths, this being the 600-ton coaster Crag-side for the Tyne-Tees Shipping Company, Ltd., of Newcastle-on-Tyne.

The engines of the Crag-side and Thornaby (launched by Hawthorn Leslie and Co., Ltd., Hull) are to be supplied by the North-Eastern Marine Engineering Company, Ltd., Sunderland. The orders for the Reardon Smith Line are the first placed on the Tees this year.

proval of the Government no further details are available."

ORDERS PENDING

Among inquiries circulating among British shipbuilders are understood to be the following:—

Six 2000 deadweight tons colliers for the Fulham Borough Council, three tankers for the Anglo-Saxon Oil Company, one coaster for the Anglo-American Oil Company, two colliers for Cory and Son, one train ferry for China, two cargo and passenger liners for the Furness Withy Line, two vessels for Alfred Holt and Co., three liners for the Bombay service of the Anchor Line, and a vessel for the Howard Smith Line, of Australia.

CLYDE REPAIR WORK

Ship-repairing establishments are receiving few important contracts these days, and during the week Barclay, Curie and Co. had only nine vessels, four of which were dry-docked.

D. and W. Henderson and Co. had eight ships for repairs, two of which, the Fintra and the Bronte, were in Meadowsdale graving dock for bottom painting and overhaul. The California was on hand for damage repairs, the Titan for machinery repairs, and voyage repairs were made on four vessels.

Alexander Stephen and Sons dry-docked the Huntingdon and the Manratia for machinery and voyage repairs, and the Orchy for damage repairs. Harland and Wolff, Govan, carried out voyage repairs on the Mamari, the Pakeha, and the Gregalia, and damage repairs on Hopper No. 3. The Blythswood Shipbuilding Company docked the Pacific Ranger for voyage repairs.

SCOTTISH EAST COAST

The Caledon Shipbuilding and Engineering Company, Ltd., Dundee, have undocked the Glen Tanar and the T. B. Taylor and are continuing repairs alongsides. The Perth is receiving attention in drydock for special survey, and the B. L. Nairn is being attended to for shell repairs. Repair work is being continued on H.M.T.S. Unicorn, and boiler repairs are being carried out on the Branksea, Tumby, and the John Plenderleath, while the shell repairs to the Ukbridge have been completed.

Messrs Henry Robb, Ltd., Leith, had the Bendoran for docking, painting, and repairs, and H.M.S. Playfair and H.M.S. Launch No. 230 for overhauling.

TYNE AND DISTRICT

Speaking generally, North-East Coast yards appear a little busier, but a number of big contracts are urgently required to give them the aspect of activity.

Messrs Smith's Dock Company, Ltd., North Shields, have had a number of ships for various work, including the following:—S.N.A. 8 (damage repairs), British Courage (voyage repairs), Thrifty (voyage repairs), Spanker (damage repairs), Royston (damage repairs), Togston (damage repairs), Orland (survey), while alongside have been the Hindhead, Karnagh, Kylee, and Alkleaf. Their Middlesbrough yard has two important jobs in hand in the Magdapor and Manipur for shortening, while work is being executed on eleven other vessels.

Swan Hunter and Wigham Richardson, Ltd., Wallsend, have received the Hopedene for collision damage repairs.

WHEN THE PREMIER RESIGNS

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.

It has been found that not only back-bench M.P.s, but some Ministers are uncertain about the procedure to be followed when the Government is reorganised.

Some Ministers expect to receive a formal request for their resignations before Mr. MacDonald, the Prime Minister, hands his resignation to the King. This will not be the procedure.

Mr. MacDonald will be resigning as an individual Minister, on personal grounds unconnected with Government policy.

Ministers' Resignations. When he is received by the King he will tender only his own resignation.

The King may then ask Mr. MacDonald's advice as to whom he should send for, and in due course Mr. Baldwin will be summoned to the Palace.

MORE GROG MONEY

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.

From July 1 the seaman who does not drink will have his cut rate of grog money restored. He will get 3d. a day instead of 2d.

Few seamen take their grog money instead of their daily tot of rum. The ration is half a gill.

Only chief and petty officers are allowed it neat. For the rest it is carefully mixed with water (in the proportion of two-thirds water) and issued, ceremoniously, at noon.

Officers are not entitled to either their money or their grog.

Government will then offer his resignation to Mr. Baldwin in order to give him a free hand in making changes in offices.

It will be Mr. Baldwin who will be responsible for recommending the changes to his Majesty.

It will be on Mr. Baldwin's recommendation that Mr. MacDonald will be given his new post.

CHINESE ART FOR LONDON

Masterpieces Of Long Ago

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.

Many visitors to the preliminary showing in Shanghai of the London International Exhibition of Chinese Art, to be opened in November at Burlington House, doubtless found in the paintings the most inspiring of all the examples of Chinese art. Here is the art of these people at its very best, for, while the splendid bronzes of the Shang and Chou periods and the exquisite porcelains of the dynasties subsequent to the Han were the work of highly gifted artisans, the paintings and calligraphy, which go together in the Chinese idea of art, were done by men of leisure, education, and refinement, the very leaders of thought in their day, the arbiters of art principles. So it is not surprising that in their paintings we find the supreme expression of Chinese artists.

This is well exemplified in the collection of paintings and calligraphy that go to make up perhaps the most important section of the exhibition as shown in Shanghai, comprising as it does no fewer than 173 items. Scroll paintings on silk cover a wide range of subjects from mountain scenery, plants, and birds to children at play or portraits of distinguished people. The earliest are attributed to the Tang period, while the latest were painted in the Ch'ing or Manchu Dynasty.

A great deal has been written on Chinese painting, and great emphasis has been laid on the Chinese painter's chief object being to catch and express the spiritual essence of nature. But is not this common to all great painters? Eastern or Western? Is not the expression of the inner meaning or spirit of things the criterion of all great art? How the Chinese artist achieves his aim is what is important. It is here that the difference between his work and the work of Western masters becomes evident.

LINE UPON LINE

The media of the Chinese painter—water-colours and Indian ink on silk or very thin paper—call for a technique altogether different from that of European painters. With their opaque oil and tempera colours, crayon and pastels. Even the Western water-colour artist depends for his effects on a different handling of his materials, using washes of colour put on with more or less formless strokes. Instead of definite lines and dots, each of an exact shape, depth of tone, and desired colour, and applied with complete sureness. For the material that the Chinese painter uses allows of no retouching, there can be no erasure and change, a stroke once made must remain, for good or ill, a part of his picture. So he does not work from a model, but first indelibly prints the object he is going to depict upon his inner consciousness, makes himself familiar with its every detail, builds up his picture in his mind's eye, and then, when all is set, proceeds to transfer it to his silk with confident precision.

What matter if his idea of perspective in painting a house is incorrect by our Western standards? He succeeds in giving to the rendering of that house something our artists lack. In his great landscapes he is seeing with the mind's eye vast stretches of country, as in Hsia Kwei's long scroll painting of "Ten Thousand Miles" of the Yangtze, and can express something beyond the dream of our painters. Things invisible to one who adheres to the rules of perspective can be brought into the picture and boldly portrayed by one who ignores them.

In Chinese portrait painting there is no flinching about with little dabs of paint in an endeavour to catch the desired lights and shades that bring out relief. The Chinese artist catches the likeness of his subject by means of superb mastery of line superimposed on a more or less flat wash of flesh colour. This is extraordinarily well illustrated in the almost life-size painting of the Emperor Tai Tsung (A.D. 978-988) of the Sung Dynasty, by an unknown contemporary artist. The strength and character shown in the Emperor's face leave no doubt of his being a great ruler. Even in the round, featureless face of Genghis Khan, the world conqueror, the artist has succeeded in conveying an impression of character and has caught the type of the Mongol herdsman and soldier.

From so many paintings, all good, it is difficult to single out examples for special mention, yet it may, perhaps, be said without fear of contradiction that the Chinese painter reaches his highest attainment in his landscapes. These are indeed superb. The exhibition contained a number which deserve more than passing comment. Greatly as the Chinese painter depends upon perfection of stroke, he is also master of the use of washes, as is well illustrated in a landscape by the Ming artist, Tai Chin, showing towering crags above, and below trees and reeds all bending before a driving wind with sheets of rain blotting out the intervening scenery. While he gazes upon this painting the observer can hear the howling of the wind and feel the stinging rain of one of the sudden storms characteristic of this country in summer.

BIRDS AND ANIMALS

Another very fine piece is a landscape called "Looking at the Moon," by the famous Sung artist, Ma Yuan, in which mountain crags and pines are particularly well presented. An old man asleep in a small boat under bamboos, exquisitely rendered, forms the subject of another painting by the same artist.

Among the examples of bird and animal painting is one of a number of deer (wapiti) amid autumn-tinted trees, attributed to an unknown artist of the Five Dynasties period, which immediately followed the Tang; and another depicting two water-buffaloes with small boys on their backs hurrying home in the rain, by Li Ti of the Sung period. Others, again, show pheasants, wild geese, quails, bulbuls, magpies or hawfinches in various settings with trees, shrubs, flowers, or cereals. One particularly fine bird painting is of a flock of pied jacksaws (not magpies as stated in the catalogue) roosting in a tree with several geese (not swans) resting underneath. This is by Kuo Tien of the Yuan period. Perhaps the most delightful plant pictures are those of bamboos and rocks, a favourite subject with Chinese painters, and one at which they excel. For those who prefer human subjects there are many extremely clever studies, notably one of an old fisherman standing under snow-laden bamboos, attributed to an unknown artist of the Five Dynasties period, while another extraordinarily clever painting is of a fisherman twisting his line, by Ma Ho Chin of the Sung period.

One thing about all the paintings must strike the observer, and that is their lack of colour compared with the work of Western artists. This is not entirely due to the ravage of time; for, as a matter of fact, colour is not and never has been a very marked feature in the paintings of the Chinese. Indeed, many of their best pictures have no colours at all.

Should Women dread the approach of a perfectly natural event?

NATURE never intended you to suffer unduly. Why is it then that so many thousands of women experience such pain and weakness?

Simply because there is a shortage of vital minerals in the body.

That is the reply, supported by the best medical opinion. Calcium is the vital food of every body cell, and any shortage hinders the correct performance of all bodily functions, particularly those of women.

The use of Kalzana, the mineral food, for a few weeks provides the whole system with the indispensable minerals needed to establish that care-free, vigorous health that Nature intended you to enjoy.

But it must be Kalzana, as only in this scientific form (a combination of sodium-lactate and calcium-lactate) will the mineral salts be taken up and retained by your body.

Lose your dread—re-establish the functions on a normal basis by starting a course of Kalzana to-day.

DUKE & DUCHESS OF KENT

Interest In Art Exhibition

(Special Air Mail Service)

Edinburgh, May 29.
The Duke and Duchess of Kent today visited the annual exhibition of the Royal Scottish Academy and the Scottish National Gallery. Enthusiastic street crowds welcomed them and the Academy and gallery were well filled.

Mr. Pirie, Academy president, conducted the Duke round the exhibition, and Mr. David Foggie, academician, the Duchess. The Duchess was greatly interested in typical Scottish paintings, including the centenary display of MacTaggart. Her own portrait by De Laiz is an exhibit, and she and the Duke and Mr. Pirie were photographed beside it.

After luncheon the Duke and Duchess went on a motor tour, paying private visits and spending a quiet afternoon in the country. To-morrow they will attend divine services in the morning and evening in St. Giles Cathedral. On Monday there will be a garden party at the Palace of Holyroodhouse, and on Tuesday their Royal Highnesses visit Glasgow in connection with extensions of Royal and Victoria Infirmary, and will be entertained to a civic luncheon in the city chambers.

THE DEFENSE RESTS

Jack Holt, hero of eighty-six virile screen adventure dramas dons the toga of the barrister for the first time in his long and notable career to present the leading character of the Columbia drama, "The Defense Rests" due shortly at the Queen's Theatre.

Supporting the star in the leading feminine role is Jean Arthur, who scored decisively in the recent "Whirlpool" opposite Jack Holt, and in "Most Previous Thing in Life" with Donald Cook. The remainder of the cast includes Shirley Grey, Nat Pendleton, Raymond Walburn, Sarah Padden, Donald Meek and Raymond Hutton.

The story is a powerful indictment of the ruthless, sensational "mouthpiece" popularized by the Bill Falcons and the Earl Rogers. The "Matt Mitchell" of the "Defense Rests" is a brilliant, notorious criminal lawyer who will defend anyone—at a price. His publicity-seeking, tactics win him headlines which he cynically terms, "advertising which money can't buy—and which the bar association can't bar." But a comely little law school graduate in the person of Jean Arthur comes into his life at the height of his career. Her enthusiasm and idealism concerning the profession provide a sharp contrast to Holt's cynical materialism. They share arguments with romance, and pave the way for a thrilling denouement.

Holt's portrayal of the brilliant Mitchell is said to mark the high spot of characterization. It is the star's third important role in recent months, following closely his performances in "Whirlpool" and "Black Moon."

DESIRABLE

Jean Muir, the young Broadway actress who has risen to screen fame in a few short months, is coming to the Alhambra Theatre on Wednesday next, in the Warner Bros. production, "Desirable," at the head of an all-star cast which includes George Brent, Verree Teasdale, and John Halliday.

The picture, based on the story by Mary McCall, Jr., is said to be a stirring romance in which a young and unsophisticated girl who has been kept in seclusion in a finishing school by her mother, a reigning favourite of the Broadway stage, is swept off her feet by the glamour of the society world with which she comes into contact for the first time, but who finally awakens to its shams and flies to the arms of a man for whom she has had a strong friendship without realizing that she is really in love with him.

Miss Muir is given the opportunity to blossom out in gorgeous costumes as well as to display her histrionic talent in the stormy and intensely emotional scenes of this production.

George Brent has the role of the lover to whom the girl eventually turns after she breaks her betrothal to a blue blooded aristocrat whose family is shocked at her frank and unconventional ways.

Verree Teasdale appears as the Broadway star, while others in the cast include John Halliday, a theatrical angle, Charles Starrett, the young society man, Russell Hopton, John Wheeler, Pauline True, Barbara Leonard and Virginia Hammond.

"THE MIGHTY BARNUM"

At The King's

"The Mighty Barnum," which 20th Century brings to the King's Theatre to-day, is in the nature of a Centennial Celebration offering.

For it was exactly one hundred years ago that P. T. Barnum, played by Wallace Beery, left his grocery store on New York City's Bowery, and launched his career as the world's greatest showman by exhibiting Joice Heth, an aged negress claimed to be 160 years old and to have nursed George Washington in his infancy. Whether Joice was actually a Barnum hoax or not was never determined, but the newspapers of the day devoted a flattering amount of editorial space to the question of her authenticity and even the clergy found her worthy of mention.

General To. Thumb, the world's smallest man, the Cardiff Giant, the Wolly Horse the Fiji Mermaid, the two headed calf and all the rest of the freaks with which Barnum amazed contemporary New Yorkers are also present in the film which Walter Lang directed from a story by Gene Fowler and Bess Meredith for release through United Artists.

Adolphe Menjou, Virginia Bruce, Rochelle Hudson and Janet Beecher are also prominently cast in "The Mighty Barnum." Virginia portraying Jenny Ling, the lovely Swedish Nightingale, whom Barnum introduced to America at Castle Garden.

EMBARRASSED BY LOYALTY

(Special Air Mail Service) London, May 29.

In spite of Austrian resentment of Herr Hitler's attitude towards Austria in his speech, it is believed that the German Government is now less in favour of the Anschluss than at any time since the new regime came into power.

There are indications that nothing would embarrass Herr Hitler more than a successful push by his Austrian followers. This new orientation of policy has been reflected in his attitude towards Herr von Papen the German Minister in Austria, who in his attempt to recover his lost prestige has been becoming officially more Nazi than the Nazis.

Avoiding von Papen, A week or so ago Herr von Papen came to Berlin, but was not received by the Fuehrer. He consoled himself with the fact that they would be certain to meet on the grand stand of the Karlsruher race course, near Berlin—the Ascot, Epsom, Goodwood and Aintree of Germany rolled into one.

Herr von Papen as a former first-class steeplechase rider and an owner of steeplechases would naturally be there and Herr Hitler had promised to be present to watch "the Fuehrer's Prize"—the biggest race of the meeting.

Though a memorial service for Marshal Flandre kept Herr Hitler in Berlin, he would not have gone in any case. He had heard that Herr von Papen would be there.

DUKE ORDERED OFF WHILE FISHING

The Duke of Devonshire, who is staying at his Irish seat, Lismore Castle, County Waterford, was fishing on the River Blackwater, at Careysville, accompanied by a gillie when he was ordered off the river by a man wearing a mask.

The man emerged from a shrubbery and inquired if that was the Duke's boat.

On learning that it was, he approached and ordered the Duke off the river. The Duke was playing a fish at the time. He did not comply with the request.

The man walked away but returned, and is said to have told the Duke to be out of the place by eight o'clock that night, or otherwise he would be taken.

It is also stated that the man then left and fired a shot in the air from a revolver.

The Civic Guards are making investigations into the affair.

WHOLE TOWN'S TALKING

At The Queen's

In an exciting story crammed full of suspense and action, Edward G. Robinson makes his debut as a Columbia star in "The Whole Town's Talking" which is having its initial showings to-day at the Queen's Theatre.

It is a story of mistaken identity in which a frustrated clerk is constantly being mistaken for a dangerous criminal, who is his exact physical counterpart. A host of amusing and at times thrilling situations arise, particularly when the killer himself arrives on the scene.

Featured in the cast are Jean Arthur, Wallace Ford, Arthur Hohl, Arthur Byron and Donald Meek. John Ford directed this Columbia production from the screen play by Jo Swerling and Robert Riskin who between them wrote the screen adaptations of "Broadway Bill," "Lady for a Day," "It Happened One Night," "No Greater Glory" and "Man's Castle."

He Can Take It. House-wife (to tramp)—"I know you. You are one of the tramps that I gave a pie to last summer." Tramp—"You are right, madam. You gave it to three of us. I am the sole survivor."

"YOU'RE TELLING ME"

Hilarious Comedy

W. C. Fields, who will always be remembered for his inspiring role in "David Copperfield" as MacKaber, is the leading light in the hilarious comedy "You're Telling Me" that had its premier showing at the Alhambra Theatre, yesterday.

Fields stands in a class of his own. In "You're Telling Me" he romps away with the show, and gives a performance that is worthy of his great showing in the Dickens classic. Yesterday he was shown as an inventor, who is always in difficulties, but a Princess (Adrienne Ames) takes pity on him and resolves to help him. She comes down on a visit to his home town, stays at his home and makes the society of the town very jealous. She helps him to put one of his inventions "over" and fosters a marriage between the inventor's daughter (Joan Marsh) and the son of one of the wealthiest families in town (Larry "Buster" Crabbe).

The picture on the whole is quite enjoyable as it is first moving and entertaining.—S.M.N.

It's A Fact. "Can you imagine anyone going to bed with his shoes on?" "Who does?" "My horse."

WALLACE BEERY with General and Mrs. Tom Thumb in 20th Century's latest super production "THE MIGHTY BARNUM" a United Artists Release which opens at the King's Theatre to-day.

"THE CASE OF THE HOWLING DOG"

"The Case of the Howling Dog" Warner Bros. latest and most baffling mystery murder drama, comes to the Alhambra Theatre on Sunday with Warren William and Mary Astor in the stellar roles.

Not only is the picture, based on Eric Stanley Gardner's story, one of the strangest mystery plays screened, but it is climaxed by a sensational murder trial in which a beautiful society woman faces the hangman's noose, charged with the killing of her husband.

The spectacular trial also uncovers a series of other murders. The police never actually solve the crimes, although the spectator is given a peep behind the scenes.

Warren William is the famous lawyer and Mary Astor his client, while Helen Trenholme supplies the romantic interests as the sweetheart of William, who helps him on the case. Dorothy Tree has the role of the sweetheart of one of the slain men, and is the State's star witness in the murder trial.

Others in the case include Alan Jenkins, as the dumb detective, Grant Mitchell as the vindictive district attorney, Helen Lowell, Gordon Westcott, Harry Tyler, Arthur Aylesworth, Russell Hicks, Frank Reicher and Addison Richards.

AROUND THE COURTS

COUNTERFEITERS ARRESTED

Before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon four persons were brought up charged with:—(a) Counterfeiting Hongkong Dollars and Ten Cent pieces. (b) Possession of moulds for coining money. (c) Possession of counterfeit coins (Sixty three).

The accused were: Yeung Ping alias Yeung Hon-kee, Tsang Ming alias Tsang Hop-wing Wan Cheung, and Tsau Chuen.

Sub-detective Inspector Cunningham prosecuted and Mr. Hin Shing Lo, (instructed by Mr. M.A. da Silva) appeared for Tsang Ming, the second defendant.

Inspector Cunningham in stating his case said that on May 30 on instructions received from him, Detective Sergeant Goodwin and a party of detectives conducted a raid on No. 10 Takling Road, 2nd floor, Kowloon City. The detectives entered and arrested all the defendants. The flat contained two 'cubicles', but there was no furniture except for several bed boards and also a table. When arrested the defendants were taken to the Kowloon City Police Station where they were charged.

After formal evidence had been heard the case was adjourned.

SUMMONS OF ASSAULT

Before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at Central Magistracy yesterday Wong Shing, of No. 17 Lee Yuen Street East, 2nd floor, was summoned by Chow Sam of the same address with having assaulted him on May 28 last.

Mr. M. A. da Silva appeared for the complainant, but the defendant was not legally represented.

In outlining the case, Mr. Silva said that complainant was the manager of Kwan Kee Shop at No. 17 Lee Yuen Street East for a considerable time. Defendant was a clansman of the proprietor and during the lifetime of the proprietor, he had helped with some work generally, and resided on the premises. Defendant was found dishonest in some small matters, and he was prohibited to reside in the shop any longer since the proprietor died sometime this year and three weeks after that, defendant came back to the shop to eat meals, in spite of complainant's disagreement. For several days complainant had continually asked defendant to leave, and finally on May 28 last, complainant told defendant that if he would not leave the premises on the day after, he would call the Police to drive him out. Defendant, then took an object from his pocket and struck complainant. Blinded by the blood that flowed from the wound, complainant could not see what that object was. He went to the Police Station to report the matter, and there he was advised to bring out a summons himself.

Mr. Silva, before concluding, said that two persons had been asked to come up to Court to give evidence, but had not turned up. One had actually seen the assault while the other was a witness to a threat of defendant's to complainant.

The complainant gave evidence bearing out counsel's outline. Defendant in the witness box, said that he was a general assistant and that he did not assault defendant. The deceased proprietor was his uncle. Defendant was on that day drunk and was running after him to strike him, when he ran against a chair, and fell, his head striking the table which caused the wound.

Wong Kwai, a shop fook, gave evidence as to the alleged assault. Witness said that complainant was drunk and also corroborated defendant's evidence that defendant had never been driven out of the shop by the deceased proprietor.

His Worship said that if the two witnesses whom Mr. Silva mentioned, did not turn up at the next hearing, which was fixed for 11.30 on Monday morning, he would dismiss defendant, giving him the benefit of the doubt.

Charged before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning with the theft of a foundation-pen from Wong Chuk-sam, shop fook, at Colinaught Road Central near the Wing On Wharf, Lo Chan, aged 35, unemployed, was sentenced to three months' hard labour. The value of the pen was given as $3.20. Acting Sub-Inspector Tyler prosecuted.

BUS CONDUCTOR IN TROUBLE

Charged with embezzlement, uttering forged tickets, and defrauding the Kowloon Motor Bus Co., four men were brought before Mr. E. I. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon. There was also fifth man who was charged only with uttering forged tickets.

The first defendant to face the charges was Tsang Yeung conductor number 813 employed by the Kowloon Motor Bus Co.

Mr. E. S. Brooks appeared for the prosecution and Mr. D. L. Strellett for the defence.

In opening the case Mr. Brooks stated that on April 10 the accused was acting conductor on a bus running on Route No. 1 and sold forged tickets, afterwards returning the genuine tickets to the Company at the conclusion of the day when he went off duty.

Mr. Strellett, for the defence, called Mr. Lee Yat Ngok, managing director of the Local Printing Press, who gave evidence that the book of tickets produced in Court were printed by his firm. The ticket sold by the accused were then handed to the witness.

Witness stated that a special kind of type was used for the printing the tickets and also the signature on the tickets could not be reproduced. There were also other small differences which could be detected with a microscope.

At the conclusion of the witness evidence His worship said that he was more impressed by the discrepancies on the face of the ticket than on the back.

Mr. W. S. T. Louey, Manager of the Kowloon Motor Bus Co., deposed that the accused was employed as a conductor. He stated that on April 10 at 10 a.m. he instructed two men to board any buses, and he handed them $2.50 each in 10 cts pieces. They were instructed to buy a small notebook each and write in it the No. of the Bus, the Route, where they boarded the bus, and at what time, and they were to buy a ten cent second class fare on all their trips. The names of the two men were Chiu Ming and Lai Kwok.

At 4 p.m. on April 10 Chiu Ming returned his notebook to witness, and it was discovered later that ticket no. UR 2852 was not sold although it was shown as being sold in the bill of fares at the end of the day, but it could be seen that there had been some alteration made in the bill of fares.

After further evidence was heard the case was adjourned to Wednesday 19 at 2.30 p.m.

THEFT IN HOTEL

Charged with the theft of $65 (Hong Kong currency) and $7 (Chinese currency) the property of Cheong Chi Fun, tobacco merchant, from Room No. 608 at the Empress Hotel, Cheong Chi Kwong, a 25 year old unemployed, was remanded until Monday by Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy on the request of the prosecution officer Acting Sub-Inspector Tyler.

Acting Sub-Inspector Tyler, stated that defendant is a distant relative of complainant's and visited him at the hotel with the object of getting a loan of money. While he was there, complainant left the room to go to the lavatory. Complainant then suddenly remembered that he had left a sum of money lying in a jacket in his room, and returned to the room but found defendant had disappeared. Some fooks of the hotel then told him that they had just seen defendant going down to the fifth floor. Complainant hastened after him and found him there with the money in his possession.

Defendant denied stealing the money, stating that he had seen it on the floor and had picked it up. He admitted not telling complainant anything about it.

Arrested coming off the R.M.S. Empress of Canada after having stolen a spanner on Thursday, Yan Ho-fuk, 59, an unemployed cook, was brought before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday and sentenced to three months' hard labour. He was also ordered to be placed under police supervision for two years. Inspector Stimson stated that when defendant was arrested the spanner was found in his possession. Defendant had seven previous convictions against him.

MUI-TSAI CASE

The hearing of the mui-tsal case against So Yuk Sheung, a 35 year-old married woman, residing at No. 173, Des Voeux Road West, who was summoned for keeping an unregistered mui-tsal Tam Yuk-kim, 18 years of age, was concluded before Mr. W. Scheinfeld at Central Magistracy yesterday, when defendant was found guilty, and was fined $100.

Inspector T. O'Connor appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. A. el Arculli represented the defendant.

Kwok Cheuk Leung, a salesman, giving evidence on behalf of the defence, said that the girl was a niece of defendant's husband, Tam Sam Ming.

Mr. Arculli submitted arguments on the point that the mui-tsal concerned in the case was a relative of defendant's.

His Worship remarking that the defence had failed to establish a case, convicted defendant.

Tam Sam Ming, defendant's husband was together summoned on the same count, but the summons was withdrawn owing to the fact that he was away from his house when the girl was serving as mui-tsal.

For committing a breach of the deportation ordinance, Ng Kul, aged 31, was sentenced to nine months' hard labour by Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Police Court yesterday. He had been banished from the Colony for 10 years in October, 1934. Defendant was arrested in Hollywood Road.

Before Mr. Wynne-Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, Cheng Hing-u, 40, an interpreter of the Sanitary Department, was charged with having accepted a bribe. Bail in the sum of $750 granted and the case was remanded for seven days.

It is alleged that defendant accepted a bribe of $50 from a man named Ma Sing on May 25.

Detective Sub-Inspector Cunningham appeared for the prosecution and in applying for the remand stated that he had been instructed to do so by Mr. W. J. Lockhart-Smith.

Mr. R. H. Cole appeared on behalf of defendant.

Li Kam, aged 38, a widow, appeared before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday morning, charged with the possession of 204 po-pui lottery tickets, found concealed on her in Hollywood Road. She was fined $75, with the alternative of one month's imprisonment.

DISRAELI AND THE ART CRITICS

Archbishop's Story

The toast of 'The Royal Academy of British Art' was given at the Royal Academy Banquet by the Archbishop of Canterbury. He said he might have been tempted to discourse on the pictures upon the walls, but he had recently heard a characteristic story of Disraeli, who had attended this annual banquet and had spoken in reply to the toast of 'The Ministers of the Crown.' He spoke in eloquent terms of the splendid triumphs and trophies of British art which he saw upon the walls. Afterwards, on leaving he remarked to a friend, 'I have never seen such a display of rubbish.' (Laughter.) This contrast between the public and the private word was afterwards reported to Gladstone. 'Was it not flippant?' asked the narrator. 'Flippant?' replied Gladstone; 'It was worse than flippant; it was devilish.' (Laughter.)

As far as the exhibition was concerned, continued his Grace, he would leave the pictures to the verdict of the public, which was always quite contrary to that of the critics. (Laughter and cheers.) In coupling with the toast the name of the president, he was quite sure that so long as Sir William Llewellyn occupied that office the Royal Academy would never fail to justify its high place in the estimation of the public. (Cheers.)

Before Mr. Macfadyen at the Central Magistracy yesterday, Kong Sze, aged 63, street coolie, was charged with receiving a box of 12 hammer-heads, knowing them to have been stolen. Acting Sub-Inspector Tyler said the hammer-heads were valued at $3 and were the property of the Sing Lung hardware shop, 144 Wellington Street. Defendant was arrested by a district watchman in Lower Lascar Row near Tung Street, trying to sell the articles. He was questioned and admitted that he found the property in Staveley Street. He denied receiving the articles, but said he had picked them up from a rubbish heap. After evidence, his Worship altered the charge to one of unlawful possession, and bound defendant over in a personal bond of $30 for a period of nine months.

WELCOME TO
CONSULSenhor Laborinho
Entertained

The newly appointed Portuguese Consul, Senhor Alvaro Brilhante Laborinho was entertained by the Portuguese institutions at a large reception at Club Lusitano on Thursday evening.

After formal introduction, the Presidente of the Club Lusitano, Dr. F. M. Graca Ozorio in warmly welcoming the Consul wished him continued success in his career and assured him that the Community's co-operation will not be lacking in anything he might have in view to promote national welfare.

Availing of the opportunity, Dr. Ozorio hinted on a desirable modification concerning consular passport and asked the Consul's good office to submit same, with his weighty recommendation, to His Excellency the Minister of Foreign Affairs, in Portugal for his due consideration.

Dr. Ozorio then asked those present to join him in toasting the new Consul wishing him health, wealth and prosperity.

In reply, Senhor Laborinho said he was grateful for the splendid reception accorded him and that he was really at a loss to find words to express his feelings adequately.

He assured everyone that he was happy at being in Hong Kong, as the representative of his Government, since immediately he came into contact with his fellow citizens after his arrival here. He felt that he was amongst friends, therefore he has no misgivings whatever as regards anything he might need from the community for the common good and in the interest of the mother-country.

With regard to the suggestion made by Dr. Ozorio, he will gladly transmit same, with his recommendation, to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs and no doubt it will receive sympathetic consideration.

Reiterating his thanks the Consul drank to the prosperity of the community in general.

Refreshments were then served and dancing was indulged in until dinner time, to music supplied by the "Trobadores."

Chinese Tickets
In HongKong

The recent announcement that ships' officers' tickets issued by the Chinese Government are to be recognized by the Hong Kong Government is not expected to affect the British officers who at present hold positions on ships running to and from Hong Kong.

The position in the past has been that all ships under the British flag must carry British officers, while those under the Chinese flag and carrying passengers to or from Hong Kong must also carry British officers.

Actually there are only about three or four vessels which are under the Chinese flag which call at Hong Kong and carry British officers in order to be able to hold a passenger certificate.

Actually it would be possible for a large number of the British seamen employed in Hong Kong to lose their position as the result of the new regulation, but the advantages of British registry to owners is expected to outweigh the disadvantage—mainly a saving in wages—of becoming Chinese registered.

There is only one ship owned by the China Merchants' S.N. Co. which at present has a Hong Kong passenger certificate, and carries British officers though there are a number of this company's vessels which call at Hong Kong. Now, however, all these ships can apply for Hong Kong passenger certificates and carry passengers to and from the Colony while retaining their Chinese crew.

Protection from piracy by British gunboat and destroyer patrols is a big incentive for shipping companies to remain under the British flag.

There would also be a considerable amount of difficulty, it is believed, experienced by local shipping companies applying to Nanking for Chinese registry.

HIGH SHERIFFS AND MAYORS

Precedence Ruling

In view of the uncertainty which exists in some places as to the precedence to be accorded to a mayor when the High Sheriff of the County is present, Sir Gerald Woods-Wollaston, Garter King of Arms, has just given the following ruling:

The High Sheriff of a county represents the King and as such has precedence within his jurisdiction over a mayor, even within his own borough, when both are present officially but in the capacity of guests.

But apart from this, in my opinion, and the same view has been expressed by my predecessors in office, Section 15 (5) of the Municipal Corporations Act does not give to a mayor the unequalled general precedence which is sometimes claimed under the section by mayors.

In my opinion the intention of the words used in the section was merely to give statutory authority for that which would otherwise have depended upon common sense and good feeling—namely, that on all municipal occasions, whether of business or entertainment, the mayor should preside, or act as host. It was not the intention of the Act to give the mayor social precedence, even within the borough, over those who are entitled to rank above him in the general scale of precedence.

After giving further explanation, he concludes that social precedence conferred directly by the Sovereign by Royal Warrant, or otherwise conferred or sanctioned by him, must prevail.

SPECIAL INTERCESSION

(The Editor of The Hong Kong "Daily Press")

Sir,—I shall be grateful if you will allow me to use your columns to reach all Christian ministers and congregations to invite them to share with us on Sunday morning next, June 16th, in special intercession for China and Japan.

In both countries, as in all countries, forces of good and of evil are in conflict. I ask, therefore, all who believe that God has entrusted to us the responsibility of prayer for others, to pray that the leaders of every country in the world may act at this time with wisdom, courage and honesty, so that peace and justice may prevail in the Far East.

Yours, etc.,
RONALD.

NEW BUILDING
FOR S.M.P.Model Ten Story
Structure Opened

Shanghai, June 10. The new Police Building in Foochow Road, adjoining the American Club, was thrown open to the public yesterday afternoon, when an estimated 1,800 persons filed through the various headquarters and Central Station offices and were given an intimate view of the operations of a great metropolitan police force.

Already long before 2 o'clock, the time set for opening the doors to the visitors, a crowd of cardholders had gathered in front of the building, eager to see the wonders contained in its ten storeys. It was well after 5 when the last guest departed and within the three hours' interval the police personnel endeavoured to show every visitor everything of public interest in the building. Offices which are ordinarily closed on Sunday afternoon were thrown open so that the public might get a complete picture of the workings of the various departments.

And to make the event more enjoyable, the guests, having finished their comprehensive inspection, were conducted to the 'spacious Police Club on the seventh floor and served with light refreshments.

MANY BRANCHES SEEN

The offices visited during the afternoon included those of the Crime Branch, Uniformed Branches, Special Branch, Communication Room (wireless and teleprinter), Central Station Charge Room, Traffic Offices, and recreational rooms. One of the places which attracted particular interest was the Police Studio and Museum, on the second floor, where everything from a pistol that looks like a jack-knife to a counterfeit printing outfit could be seen. Another attraction in this department was the collection of fine cameras used in police work.

The visitors presented a veritable cross-section of life in the Settlement, the Chinese section of the community being particularly well represented. Amongst the members of the Council present were Messrs. J. W. Carney and Yu Yaching, and Municipal officials other than Police included Mr. R. T. Bryan Junr., the Municipal Advocate, and Mr. G. Burton Sayer, Press Information Officer. Others were Comdr. A. E. Bates and Mr. L. S. Kwon. Police officials present to greet the visitors included Major K. M. Bourne, Acting Commissioner; Mr. R. C. Ailes, Deputy Commissioner; Mr. S. C. Young, Deputy Commissioner; and Mr. G. W. Gilbert, Assistant Commissioner.

$1,500,000 BUILDING

The new building, which represents an investment of approximately $1,500,000, was taken into use at the beginning of the month, replacing the old facilities in the S.M.C. Administration Building and the former Central Station at the corner of Foochow and Honan Roads. Living quarters for the various station personnel are provided in three wings of the building. Entrances are from Foochow Road and Klangee Road. The Police Club on the seventh and eighth floors, is reached from Foochow Road by the west lift.

A.O. BANK'S
AFFAIRSEarly Collection
Of Loans

Shanghai, June 10. Within the next day or so Mr. Frank L. Hough, liquidator for the Raven companies, expects to make public the first balance sheet of the American-Oriental Banking Corporation's assets and liabilities.

Yesterday, Mr. Hough announced that this balance sheet, just completed by Mr. Henry De Vant and his staff of auditors, will be presented in "layman's language," so that even those unacquainted with banking terms will be able to get a clear picture of the bank's standing on the closing date.

Mr. Hough also pointed out that there will be an immediate investigation of each item on the balance sheet, to discover if there are any discrepancies.

The liquidator spent a busy weekend, devoting his entire time to the Raven interests. On Saturday, he began a preliminary study of the Asia Realty Company, which he intimated might not be liquidated. For the present, he is concentrating all efforts on collecting loans made by the bank in order that there may be some cash on hand. He had gone into the linen, embroidery, shoe, and automobile business on a strictly cash basis. Local concerns who borrowed money and offered their above articles as collateral will have to pay cash before their shipments will be released.

Mr. Henry Luckner of Tientsin, receiver for the Nichols Rug Company, one of the American-Oriental Banking Corporation's debtors, with his attorney, Mr. A. R. Morrison, arrived in Shanghai yesterday morning to confer with Judge Milton J. Helmick of the U.S. Court for China, concerning the company's part in the proceedings.

Yesterday, Mr. Feltham Watson, United States District Attorney, joined Dr. George Sellett in denying any part whatsoever in concerning missionary depositors and the American-Oriental Banking Corporation.

Not until liquidation of the American-Oriental Banking Company is well under way will Mr. Hough turn his attention to the other concerns. The bank, he stated, was the keynote of the entire problem.

PREPARING FOR NEUTRALITY

As the end of current efforts to obtain a new policy of neutrality what does the United States require? Chiefly one thing—that in spite of all provocations she shall stay neutral. Granted the desire, the task would be easy but for the fact that America is tied up in myriads of ways with other nations which links are not only those of trade. Subjected themselves to the actual speech of European orators 3000 miles away every evening when they turn on their radio how can the millions of Americans under such circumstances remain neutrals? The mightiest problem confronting a neutral-minded nation is the problem of insulation which is looming ahead.

The task to many observers is impossible. Outstanding authority on the subject is highly sceptical. This is Charles Warren, Assistant Attorney General under the Wilson Administration, who had the task of trying to uphold American neutrality rights before the American entry into the war. Writing in the current Yale Review on "Prepare for Neutrality," he begins his article with the statement which has preface other articles of his: "Many Americans (of whom I am one) believe that the most likely way to keep the United States out of war is for this country to co-operate actively with other nations in attempts to prevent the occurrence of war."

The question of the proper attitude toward American trade during war time undoubtedly occupies the leading position among all the problems of maintaining neutrality. The supposed trading rights of neutrals were reduced to nothing by the World War. The only law on the high seas was the one allowed by the belligerents. The seas to the passage of any goods which might reach the enemies by the direct or indirect route were tried to be closed by both the allied and central powers. As a belligerent, America, which has made so much diplomatic effort in upholding neutral rights, became as ruthless as anybody in trampling upon neutral rights. This question should tell its businessmen in advance that foreign trade during wartime must be conducted at their own peril? must be asked by the United States itself as a neutral in any future war. A great body of

EXPLOSION IN GERMAN FACTORY

Early Reports Greatly Exaggerated

Wittenberg, June 13. Fears that hundreds of employees of the Westphalian Anhalt Explosive Works at Reinsdorf, three miles from here, were killed in an explosion which reportedly demolished the factory, now appear to have been exaggerated.

It seems that of 300 persons working at the time of the blast, already 200 have been accounted for after a systematic search. Many inhabitants of the district surrounding the factory fled at the first explosion and so escaped injury from subsequent bursts of high explosive which scattered debris all over the country-side as though from the mouths of a thousand guns.

The last explosion occurred at 8 o'clock to-night and scattered bricks and shattered parts of machinery over an area three miles wide.

An official report of the Reinsdorf explosion estimates that about fifty persons are already dead, seventy-three are seriously injured and three hundred others slightly hurt.

WORKSHOPS DESTROYED

Berlin, later. It is now reported that over 100 persons were killed in the Reinsdorf explosive works explosion and fire, near Wittenberg. All the workshops of the big plant were destroyed by fire and many houses in the near vicinity were demolished. Every window pane within a radius of several miles was shattered.

Ambulances have been engaged for many hours carrying horribly mutilated bodies of dying workmen away from the scene of disaster and rescue gangs are hunting through the wreckage for further victims. A hastily erected shed houses a "field hospital" where Red Cross nurses and doctors from all over the district have been gathered for duty.

LATEST REPORT

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages, Ordinances, 1894. Received, June 14, 4.30 p.m.)

Wittenberg, June 14. The number of dead so far recovered from the scene of the Reinsdorf factory explosion now opinion says yes. But then what will happen? Let us then go back to the humiliations to which American neutral shipping was subjected during wartime. Those humiliations touched American pride. It is easy to imagine the strident nationalism now devoted to isolationism showing on the obverse side an equally strident demand for "satisfaction," "reprisals" and what not in the event of damage to American interests. One way of guarding against this contingency is to try and obtain guarantees in advance from other nations.

Mr. Warren suggests a formula: "Might it not be possible for the United States to agree with Great Britain or other sea powers that we would not challenge the alleged right to interfere with our commerce with other neutral countries, either by directing our merchant vessels into ports for examination of cargo, or by otherwise preventing suspected shipments reaching an enemy destination through neutral ports, on the understanding that in return for such an agreement on our part, Great Britain or other sea power should relinquish her alleged right to confiscate any article which she had placed on her lists as contraband, and should agree to regulation any such article which she had desired to retain, paying therefor the contract price and in all cases paying all costs of detention of ships and cargo."

A tremendous concession to the rights asserted by the belligerents the above suggestion represents. It practically acknowledges the dominion of the seas by the nations engaged in war. All it seeks in return is the dignified and equitable treatment of neutral shipping engaged in trying to pick up an honest penny in international trade. Agreement on these lines would be an excellent second step after pushing through the proposed now before Congress to ban loans and armaments shipments to all belligerents.

total twenty two while thirty more are still missing, whom it is feared must also be regarded as lost. Besides these seventy five men have been seriously injured and three hundred slightly injured. The majority of the latter however will be able to resume work within a few days.

The first rumours as to the extent of the accident happily appear to have been greatly exaggerated since the explosion involved only part of the plant, and the majority of the buildings show only slight external damage. There was quick and energetic action taken by the local authorities as well as a very admirable attitude followed by the population which preserved perfect quiet after the first excitement was landed.

Messages expressing sympathy have been received from Dr. Goebbels and the German Labour Front leader, Dr. Ley. The latter sent relief funds of fifty thousand marks and gave orders that all buildings and labour front offices were to fly their flags at half-mast until the day of the funeral of the victims.

EARLIER MESSAGES

Wittenberg, June 13. A violent explosion occurred on Thursday at 3 p.m. at Reinsdorf near Wittenberg at the explosives works of Westfälisch Anhaltisch Sprengstoff-fabrik, where part of the building of the plant was badly damaged.

The cause of the disaster is not yet known. After the first detonation, fire broke out which spreading through the buildings caused further explosions, the last of which occurred at 6 p.m.

The seat of conflagration could not be approached closely until 8 p.m. The exact number of casualties and extent of material damage has not yet been determined. Hitherto ten bodies were reported to have been recovered but it is feared that the death toll might total as many as fifty with the number of seriously injured much higher.

When this news was broadcast at 10 p.m. over all the German wireless stations, a five minutes' pause, followed as a mark of sympathy for the victims of the disaster. The original wireless programme for the evening was then discontinued and was replaced by music of a more serious character.

Wittenberg, June 13. The latest official communication from the scene of the explosion disaster announces that up till 10 p.m. twenty dead had been recovered from the debris but that in all probability, at least fifty deaths must be reckoned with.

The number of those seriously wounded was listed at 73, while lightly-injured was over 300.

REMOVAL OF TROOPS

Washington Denies Rumours

Washington, June 14.

State Department officials have denied rumours from Tokyo that the United States might withdraw the Fifteenth United States Infantry stationed in Tientsin because of the North China trouble. They said that no consideration had ever been given to the question of removing the Tientsin garrison and they are most surprised at the rumours.

Reuter.

BRITISH DECISION
An earlier Reuter cable stated that with reference to the Washington reports that the United States troops at Tientsin will be voluntarily removed from the new Japanese zone, no removal of the British troops stationed in Peking and Tientsin under the Boxer Treaty is contemplated.

It is likewise denied in London that the British Embassy will be transferred to Nanking as the result of Japanese action. Reuter learns that the eventual transfer of the Embassy to Nanking has been envisaged for some time only as a matter of diplomatic convenience but without any connection with the present events.

HIGH PREMIUM FOR H.K. DOLLAR

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, June 14.

Premium for Hong Kong dollar is holding its high rate of 44.7 cents for a dollar to-day, the highest mark being 45 cents last Wednesday. The "Canton Daily Sun" to-day pointed out that speculators puffed up the premium of Hong Kong dollars by creating unfounded rumours concerning the political situation following the departure of Mr. Hu Han Min for Europe.

Exporters are glad that the value of the local currency has gone down at this has enabled them to pick up some trade. Export business has been very dull owing to the depreciation of the pound sterling and gold dollars since last April. Shanghai dollars likewise has risen to a premium of one and a half cent.

The Hong Kong embargo on silver is stated to be one of the causes of the decline of local currency. Canton silver was smuggled abroad via Hong Kong, and now the embargo prevents further illicit export. As a result, Canton has plenty of silver coins. Another reason for the rise of Hong Kong dollar is attributed to the heavy purchases of this currency by government offices to meet payments for machinery, etc.

It is believed that the high premium will continue for some time. Such rate is welcomed by foreigners and Chinese, working in Shanghai, as they are paid in Hong Kong currency.

CHINESE CERTIFICATES ACCEPTED

(From Our Special Correspondent)

Canton, June 14.

After July 1, certificates issued by competent Chinese authorities to mercantile marine officers and engineers will be accepted by the Government of Hong Kong as equivalent to those issued by its own authorities. Dr. Kan Chia-hou, Special Delegate of the Ministry, told foreign correspondents to-day.

Dr. Kan expressed thanks to Sir William Peel, then Governor of Hong Kong, for the friendly way in which the matter was handled and to Mr. H. Phillips, H.B.M. Consul General in Canton, for his good offices in this connection.

RED LEADER KILLED

Chengtu, June 14.

An official statement quotes a Red soldier as stating that their leader, Mao Tse-tung, has been killed in battle with Government troops.

FINANCIAL CRISIS AND PUBLIC CONFIDENCE

The Evil Of Rumour-Mongering

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Shanghai, June 8.

In the present crisis much of the prevailing unrest and excitement has been caused by the people themselves. This situation is not only detrimental to the community but it also adds to the difficulties of the banking institutions. There are several reasons underlying the present crisis. First of all, under the abnormal financial conditions of recent years, most of the money in the nation has been concentrated in the cities which have died the financial sources of the agricultural communities. Furthermore, the situation aggravated by the continued unfavourable trade balance and the large export of silver stocks, all these having contributed to the present blow to the local market. But lack of a definite policy and a tendency to panic on the part of depositors, has also played a great part in the present financial mess. It has been customary in the past for most depositors to believe in rumours and to besiege banks and start a run by heavy withdrawals upon flimsy unfounded reports. This causes considerable difficulties to the banks, and repercussions which endanger the community in general.

That the local Chinese financial crisis is over and that unreasonable rumour should not be heeded were points stressed yesterday in a notification issued by Mayor Wu Te-Chen of Greater Shanghai. A free translation reads as follows:—

"Shanghai is a commercial centre upon which hinges the nation's financial stability. It is a matter of regret that recently had characters have been trying to spread unfounded rumours to their own advantage."

"In view of these circumstances, this Municipality has ordered the Bureau of Public Safety to officially request the co-operation of the police forces in the International Settlement and the French Concession in arresting the rumour-mongers."

"The Shanghai market was recently stabilized by the advancement of a loan of $25,000,000 in currency bonds. Strict investigations are being made with a view to punishing unscrupulous bankers."

"I have issued this order to discredit all rumours that would tend to make the public the victim of rumour-mongers, and have ordered the Bureau again to investigate and arrest such persons."

TRANSFER AGREEMENT

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

The Hague, June 13.

Smart work was performed here when the delegates of Germany and Holland who had met to arrange a new agreement regarding transfer payments between the two countries began discussion in the morning and finished it in the evening with the object in view achieved.

Lengthy deliberations were held recently in Berlin and proved abortive mainly because the Dutch delegation on the question of principle took exception to a certain condition demanded by Germany and refused to consider any compromise.

After having had time for reflection both sides made proposals for overcoming the difficulty. The formal signature of the new agreement will take place in Berlin in the near future.

REPRESENTATIONS TO THE POWERS

China Alleges Treaty Breach By Japan

London, June 14. Mr. Quo Tai Chi, Chinese Ambassador, called at the Foreign office in connection with the Japanese invasion of North China. Details of the conversation are not available, but it is understood that China is making urgent representations to the Western Powers complaining of a flagrant breach of the Nine-Power Treaty.

Well-informed circles believe that the quiescence of the Powers encouraged the Japanese Army to go further than originally planned. Information in London is that China has now made it plain to all that she can make no further concessions to Japan. This would open the way for protests to Japan by Western Powers which is impossible while China is surrendering to every fresh Japanese demand.

Japanese business circles are very uneasy regarding the unfavourable reactions abroad that may ensue from the intransigence of the Japanese Army. It is noteworthy, however, that Japanese exchange rates remain unaffected. Japanese and Chinese bonds receded slightly, but no more than by precautionary marking down as is usual at all times of Far Eastern disturbances.

SEPARATIST MOVEMENT IN NORTH CHINA

Japanese Officer's Statement

Peiping, June 14. Major Takahashi, the Japanese Military Attaché, interviewed by Reuter, declared that he did not take seriously the reports of separatist activities in North China. The Japanese authorities would not associate any faction against the government otherwise, but they would see to implementing of their wishes themselves.

He refused to commit himself on the subject of the last demand to General Ho Ying-ching to put in writing the acceptance of all demands made, but he did not deny it, contenting himself by saying "that's a very delicate question."

Major Takahashi declared that all the Japanese demands concerning North China had been either carried out or was in process of being carried out. The Chahar incident was not settled, but no demands have been made yet by Japanese who were undecided whom to deal with. The matter, however, would be taken up very shortly.

He admitted that some Japanese troops have arrived at Kupeikow and would probably come as far as Miyun, but he was without official information. He declared that he was ignorant of the reported troop movements through Shanhaikuan.

TO DESTROY AUTHORITY OF NANKING

Political Opportunities At Hand

Peiping, June 14. It is believed that political opportunities such as Shih Yu-san now living in the Japanese Concession in Tientsin are ready to support any scheme which will destroy Nanking's authority in North China. Handbills denouncing the present regime and suggesting a new administration under Sun Chuan Fang, former ally of the late Maghurlan warlord Chang Tso-lin, are being secretly distributed.

Meanwhile the Japanese military authorities confirm that Japanese planes will fly over Peiping.

JAPANESE TROOP REPLACEMENTS

Mixed Brigade At Shanhaikuan

Peiping, June 14. The balance of Japanese replacements in the North China garrison has arrived numbering 1,700 men which added to the 700 in the previous week totals 2,400. Replacements for Peiping are expected to-night.

It is confirmed that a mixed brigade of the Kwangtung Army encamped near Shanhaikuan number between 4,000 and 5,000. Eight empty trains are standing at Shanhaikuan ready to proceed to the south into the Luan-tung area and the Japanese have asked the railway to keep open one of its double tracks for Japanese transport.

ON THE MOVE

It is confirmed in foreign sources that the Shanhaikuan troop trains containing the Kwangtung Army mixed brigade penetrated as far as Lanchow, but returned towards Shanhaikuan and are now encamped inside the Wall.

A detachment of Japanese troops arrived at Chingwangtao, of which the main body is leaving for Peiping to-day and a small contingent is going to Shanhaikuan.

The departure of the Tientsin garrison units whose time has expired is now fixed for June 18.

PLANE OVER CITY

A Japanese aeroplane flew over the city this morning. This is believed to be the forerunner of the demonstrating squadron of 12 to 17 machines announced earlier "for the purpose of investigating the movement of troops evacuating Peiping."

GENERALS CONFER

Tientsin, June 14. Japanese military officers including General Dolhara and General Sakai conferred concerning the Kaigen incident and decided to defer action pending the receipt of instructions from the Kwangtung Army, but agreed that General Sung Chieh-yuan "cannot be trusted" in view of his past behaviour.

AMBASSADORS SILENT

Washington, June 13. Asked for a statement on the Sino-Japanese situation in North China, Mr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister to Washington, said: "I regret my inability to express my views upon the situation. But I feel that all statements on national policy should come from Nanking."

The Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Saito, simply said: "I don't think I will make any statement at this particular moment."

VIEWS EXCHANGED

Washington, June 13. Mr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese Minister, was interviewed by Mr. Phillips, Assistant Secretary of State, to-day. It is understood they exchanged information with respect to the North China situation and that Mr. Sze was questioned in this matter. Neither would comment after their interview.

FURTHER CONTACT

Peiping, June 13. The Japanese military authorities have made a further contact with the Chinese authorities.

Last night, Major Tan Takahashi, the Japanese Military Attaché, called on Mr. Pao Wen-yuen, acting Minister for War in the absence of General Ho Ying-ching. But the subject of their discussions was not revealed.

EXODUS TO HANKOW

Peiping Training Bureau Officials

Hankow, June 14. More than two hundred former officials attached to the political training bureau of the Peiping branch of the Military Council arrived here by train last night from Peiping. Mr. Tseng Huang-cheng, director of the bureau arrived a few days ago and yesterday he left by air to Chengtu presumably to see General Chiang Kai-shek.

In the interval, while Chinese officials quarters here are anxiously concerned in the North China situation, the vernacular press has been "mutually silent." No newspapers published comment and the press carries only scanty news on the developments.

U.S. SILVER POLICY

No Change

Washington, June 13. Mr. Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the Treasury, to-day declared that the Treasury's silver price would be maintained despite any drop in the world price.

Mr. Morgenthau told a press conference to-day that in his opinion he had given a very definite answer to Senator Patrick McCarran's questions as to the Treasury's silver policy, and a demand for a re-statement of the Treasury's intentions.

Senator McCarran, one of the leaders of that Senate group which wanted a still higher price for silver, was not yet satisfied. Mr. Morgenthau admitted. The Silver Bloc was to meet next Friday to discuss further action in defence of the white metal, he said.

Mr. Morgenthau flatly denied that there had been any curtailment in America's foreign silver purchases, as might have been interpreted from the drop of foreign buying from April and May. He said the policy for the past few months had been governed solely by supply and demand.

SILVER MARKET

(From Our Own Correspondent) London, June 14. London silver prices to-day were unchanged as follows:—

Spot 32-13/16 32-13/16
Forward 33-1/16 33-1/16

London on New York cross rate at 2 p.m. to-day was 4.9387 as compared with 4.9462 at closing yesterday.

BRITISH LEGION DELEGATION

To Visit Germany

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press") (By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 14, 7.30 p.m.)

London, June 14. The delegation of the British Legion, composed of the chairman Major Fetherston-Gouldie, the former chairman, Colonel Crossfield, and two or three other members will leave London on July 13 for Germany for the purpose of establishing closer contact with the German war-veteran organisations. It is stated that the delegation's chief aim will be to examine the question whether the former enemy countries should be invited to send representatives to the British Legion's annual congress next year.

KING OUT DRIVING

London, June 13. The King who on medical advice is resting at Sandringham Palace owing to indisposition was about as usual to-day and was out driving during the morning.

Despite showery weather, the King spent most of the day out of doors, walking and driving.

ECONOMIC OBSERVERS TO CHINA

U.S. Participation

Washington, June 13. The possibility of the United States' co-operation being secured in surveying China's financial and monetary affairs has not been turned down by Mr. Cordell Hull, the Secretary of State.

Asked whether the United States would follow the lead of Britain and France and send economic observers to China, Mr. Hull replied that the State Department might give its attention to the matter. But he emphasised that no decision with regard to a definite move had yet been taken.

Mr. Hull made this statement in response to a query from newspapermen.

Mr. Hull admitted that the matter had been discussed informally, but no definite move had been made and no decision reached, he repeated.

SENATE CHANGES IN N.R.A. BILL

Republican Objection

Washington, June 13. The N.R.A. Bill was again delayed when a single Republican objector blocked immediate approval of the Senate amendments by the House of Representatives, thus forcing the Bill to a conference.

Earlier, President Roosevelt had indicated his willingness to accept the Senate changes directing that the voluntary Codes, under which the anti-trust laws are suspended, must include collective bargaining, minimum wages, maximum hours, prohibition of child labour and unfair trade practices; otherwise, the anti-trust laws would be fully effective.

At the same time, the President told the Democratic leaders that he expects the passage of four "must" Bills, four of which as speedily as possible, namely, the N.R.A. Bill, the Guffey Coal Bill, and the Bill extending the office of Transportation Co-ordinator.

GERMAN NAVY DEMAND

French Views On Situation

Paris, June 13. France's reply to the British Government's communication regarding the results of the Anglo-German naval conversations have been lengthily discussed by the Premier, M. Laval, and M. Pietri, Foreign Minister.

While the Government's attitude has not yet been determined it is understood that France will not refuse to examine the suggestion that Germany should possess a war fleet of a tonnage thirty-five per cent of the British total. At the same time France is anxious that the German re-building should be spread over the longest possible period in view of Germany's exceptional industrial output compared with France's capacity.

France also wants to know whether the fixed ratio applies only to the British and German fleets, or whether other naval powers will be linked up in this agreement.

If Russia begins to build her Fleet up to a 35 per cent. ratio of that of the British, will Germany want to build higher?

It is pointed out that under the Washington Treaty France only possesses 35 per cent of the British tonnage in capital ships, and consequently, in this category, would be at a parity with Germany.

It is believed unlikely that France will accept this, in view of her frontage on three seas and the extent of her Colonial Empire.

The opinion is expressed, that France may well wish to resume liberty of action.

JAPANESE OBJECTION

Tokyo, June 14. The Navy Minister, Admiral Osumi, in a statement in the "Kokumin Shimbun" says that "Japan strongly oppose the participation of Germany and Soviet Russia in the coming Naval Conference."

NAVAL DISCUSSIONS RESUMED

London, June 14. The Anglo-German naval talks were resumed at the Foreign Office at 11 a.m. when Herr von Ribbentrop visited Sir Samuel Hoare, afterwards conferring with Mr. Craigie until 120 p.m. Formal conversations will be resumed at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

This phase of the discussions will be mainly occupied with detailed analysis of figures relating to tonnage, armaments and various categories of warships.

Meanwhile prospects of a full naval conference in the autumn, possibly attended by Germany, Russia as well as Washington, Treaty signatories, are increasing.

With the return of von Ribbentrop to London it is now possible to confirm the outlines of the Anglo-German agreement already cabled.

Fifty thousand railroad workers are facing the loss of their jobs on Saturday unless the last-named Bill is passed, while the passage of the Coal Bill is a most urgent matter, owing to the threat of a coal strike on Sunday, the beginning of which now seems hardly avoidable.

Among other "must" Bills are the Holding Company Bill, the Bank Bill, the Social Security Bill and the A.A.A. amendments.

Facing this programme, Congressmen are now losing all hope of an early adjournment and expect the session to go far into the summer.

Meanwhile, the Holding Company Bill remains deadlocked in the House Committee. A survey of the sentiment of the House indicates that it may be defeated unless it is given Republican support.

ANTI-BRITISH CAMPAIGN

Press Attacks In Italy

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press") (Copyright.)

Rome, June 13. The anti-British press campaign that has been raging here the last few weeks has now abated as a result of the somewhat more reserved attitude of England towards the Abyssinian dispute, which was attributed to French influence.

Political circles display satisfaction with this development and take the opportunity to emphasise that the Italian action in Abyssinia is not intended to diminish the British sphere of influence in the Red Sea in any way.

Though there is no doubt that the Italian Government would not refuse to enter into negotiations, concerning the limitation of the respective zone's interests, in the event of Great Britain refraining from any intervention, no confirmation can be obtained from rumours now circulating to the effect that negotiations are actually taking place, while a report published in the "Daily Herald" that Italy will denounce the military expedition in return for concession to build a railway line through part of Abyssinia as well as other rights is being sharply denied by "Lavoro Fascista."

It is believed unlikely that the Abyssinian Legation here publishes a protest against "Fantastic accounts of the lives of slaves in Abyssinia" appearing in the Italian press.

Repeated assertions that Abyssinia intends to attack the Italian colonies are also devoid of any foundation continues the statement, which goes on to say that the Emperor of Abyssinia could have easily attacked Erythraea in Somaliland at the time it was defended by only a few hundred men if he had wished to do so. Measures which had been taken for the defence of the country were merely an answer to Italy's gigantic military preparations which reveal her unmistakable intentions.

More Denials. Paris, June 13. A categorical denial of the statements appearing in the Italian Press to the effect that the Emperor of Abyssinia recently held an inflammatory speech claiming authority over all native tribes in Africa and inciting the natives to acts of violence against the white people, was issued by the Abyssinian legation here on Thursday.

It is emphatically asserted that on his latest journey, the Emperor made no speeches whatsoever. The past record of the Emperor's reign, says the official statement, is sufficient to guarantee that the Emperor wants to provide for the progress of Abyssinia by working in complete harmony with all neighbouring countries. The sole object in the present situation is to maintain the independence and territorial integrity of Abyssinia.

ABYSSINIAN CONFLICT

Another Statement By Mussolini

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press") (By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 14, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, June 14. The Abyssinian conflict will be carried to its logical conclusion, declared Signor Mussolini to the "Excelsior's" special correspondent in Rome who had been admitted to an interview with Il Duce on this subject.

After pointing out that Italy, despite the precautionary military measures which she was obliged to take, had accepted the arbitration procedure regarding the Walwal incident, Signor Mussolini went on to stress that this incident had brought to a head a situation which had been steadily becoming more serious in years past. Il Duce said that he wished to emphasise that Abyssinia had been reorganising her army with the help of European instructors ever since 1920.

Il Duce continued, "the menace to our East African frontier is not merely a recent one. It exists and is becoming daily more acute. That we are capable of colonising, organising and restoring peace to the countries is proved by the conditions in Libya."

"Signor Mussolini then reiterated that the entire East African question depends on the European States and on whether the latter show real and not only superficial friendship for Italy."

CLIPPER REACHES DESTINATION

Honolulu, June 13. The Oriental Clipper, mighty path-finder for the Pan-American Airways trans-Pacific air service project, on its way from California to Midway Island, alighted at Pearl Harbour, Hawaii, at 12.56 E.S.T. to-day.

She had flown from San Francisco in seventeen hours and fifty eight minutes, bettering her time for her previous test flight, although she was forced to proceed through rain squalls and fog almost the whole of the way. She actually cut 41 minutes off her time.

U.S. CORRESPONDENT IN ROME EXPELLED

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press") (By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 14, 7.30 p.m.)

Paris, June 14. The European edition of the New York Herald-Tribune announces that the paper's Rome correspondent, Darrah, has been expelled from Italy for the alleged spreading of sensational reports concerning the internal situation in Italy in connection with the increasing Italo-Abyssinian tension.

DUTCH RUBBER EXPORTS

New Decision

Batavia, June 14. The ordinance of May 31 concerning fixing of export duty on native rubber of ten cents per half kilogram has been withdrawn and substituted by a decision to fix duty from June 16 at twenty two guilders per hundred kilograms.

The London market interprets the further increase of native duty which is now the highest it has ever gone as due to determination of the Netherlands Indies authorities to abide in the letter and spirit of the international scheme by reducing the current excess of native exports compared to "permissible."

Native exports during May were the heaviest, being 12,000 tons over the permissible quota owing to rush to ship rubber before the first increase of duty became operative. In the first half of June shipments are believed not to have been large, but probably bigger than the authorities wanted.

As a result the latest increase of export duty on the total native exports in June is expected to amount between seven and eight thousand tons, which will be well within the native quota.

MRS. WILLS MOODY BEATEN

London, June 14. In the tennis championship semi-finals held at Bockenham, Kent, Miss Kathleen Stammers defeated Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in straight sets, 6-0, 6-4.

ADMIRAL DREYER'S CONDITION

Wetherwei June 14. Admiral Sir Frederic Dreyer passed a good night and the slight improvement in his condition continues.

HUNGARY'S FOREIGN POLICY

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press") (Copyright.) Budapest, June 13. Speaking during the discussion on the proposed empowering law, Premier Gombos emphasised that Hungary's foreign policy would in future be characterised by a strict continuity and aim at maintaining the importance of Hungary's role in the Carpathian basin.

Gombos then spoke on the question of the settlement in succession to the Hungarian throne and repeated that his standpoint was that Hungarians could only accept monarchy in the form of being consistent with the Nation's historical mission. In concluding Gombos emphasised that constitutional reforms would have to be carried out as soon as the economic programme was accomplished. When this is done, then the constitutional exchanges would be effected in entirety.

TENNIS LEAGUE RETARDED

Programme Held Up By Rain

(BY "F. B.")

Owing to inclement weather there were very few matches played during the week. The most important fixture was that between C.R.C. (1) & U.S.R.C. The C.R.C. although expected to win were not prepared to come off with an 8 to 1 victory.

For the winners H. Ka Lau & W. C. Hung excelled and on present form will take a good pair to lower their second, even the Rumbahn cousins. They had a very good set against Capt. Manners & Goldman and I think they were a trifle lucky to win after being 3-1 down at one period.

Lee Wal Tung & Luk Ding Cheung although losing to Capt. Manners & Goldman played very well together and I think a good future is in store for them.

I was very disappointed with Tsui Wal Pui & Lu Tak Cheuk. They won all three sets but were not impressive. I have always said that Tsui is essentially a singles player and not a doubles player. His smashing and volleying was weak. Lu on the other hand played a very nice game and was able to smash from all parts of the court, a better partner for Lu would be Tennis Kwok.

Of the U.S.R.C. players, only Goldman & Manners were able to put up anything like a show and they were unlucky to lose two of the three sets.

Tollington & Ravenhill were not steady enough, Tollington being over impetuous. Ravenhill had an off day. Withington and Milne were but combining too well but will improve once they understand each other.

K. C. C. v C. R. C. "B."

The Cricketers won this match after the second round annexing five sets.

For the winners Grose & Pagh were very impressive considering it was their first appearance, together. Burnett & Guest also did very well to get two sets. This may be Guest's last appearance in the "A" Division this year. Owing to ill health he is considering reserving himself for the Mixed Doubles only.

The Fincher Bros were not playing well and only managed to get 1 1/2 sets. They should really have won all three but took matters too confidently.

For the losers Kong & Kwok played well especially the latter who I think is a much better doubles player than Tsui and should partner Lu Tak Cheuk. Kong was inclined to be a bit erratic but served very well. Kwok and Liang played a forcing game but found their opponents too steady for them. Lu Tak Lam & P. F. Choy played a nice game together and would do better if they forced their play a bit more.

The only other matches during the week were those in the "C" Division, between the S.C.A.A. and the I. R. C., and the C. B. A. and the C. C. C.

South China easily beat the I. R. C. by the big margin of 7 sets to 2 thanks to H. K. Chan and C. L. Lau who obtained 3 sets.

Graingower also easily accounted for the Central British by 6 1/2 sets to 2 1/2 sets thanks to J. T.

CARNERA'S CONQUEROR DETHRONED

Braddock Wears Baer's Boxing Crown

New York, June 14.

James Braddock, the former dock labourer who a year ago was receiving the American equivalent to the dole, staggered the boxing world last night by outpointing the world champion, Max Baer, over 15 rounds at Madison Square Garden Bowl, Long Island, thus becoming the new heavyweight boxing champion of the world.

Braddock brought off a tremendous long-shot to the great delight of millions of Americans and won fame and a much needed fortune overnight.

Baer was only a shadow of himself, as compared with the Baer that won the title from Carnera. Most of the ringside critics thought that Baer had been painted too brightly and that he was just another heavyweight last night, and that Braddock had proved what they had always said, that, as Tommy Loughran and Ernie Schaaf had done, a boxer could always beat Baer.

BAER OUT-BOXED

Braddock's victory was due to a wonderful late rally, during which he outboxed Baer and made him look far from the terrible fighter he was reputed to be.

Not once did Braddock stop trying. He often forced Baer to the ropes, landing scores of fine blows to the head. His boxing during the last four rounds was much better than Baer's, who throughout appeared over-confident, though he did not clown so much as usual.

Towards the end, when he saw the means of making big money fast disappearing he tried desperately for a knock-out but failed. Baer's strong point was in fighting, otherwise he was never really effective.

Braddock won the 1st, 2nd, 6th, 12th, 13th, 14th and 15th rounds, while the 3rd and 11th rounds were even. Braddock was continually landing left and right jabs to the head and body and carefully evaded Baer's attempts to get home terrific rights. Baer clowned in the second round, but this was the only occasion he was allowed to indulge in such antics.

TWO-FISTED ATTACK

Braddock boxed well throughout and landed several right hooks on the face and one on the heart. He attacked strongly with both fists and landed several blows on the arms and right jaw. Baer replied with a two-fisted attack. The crowd then booed Baer in the fourth round for something which was not apparent. Baer waved a sarcastic acknowledgement.

Baer had thoroughly warmed up in the sixth round and attacked viciously. He pretended to fall in the eighth round but sprang up suddenly and landed a right on the head. He had most of the round, Braddock becoming ragged and the pace slackened.

In the tenth round Baer landed what appeared to be a low blow. The eleventh and from the twelfth onwards were nearly all Braddock's, Baer getting in, occasional hooks to the jaw and head. Braddock continued to pound out punches to the head and left and right jabs. Baer was sent to the ropes in the fourteenth and again in the fifteenth, where Braddock put over a crashing right to the jaw.

TWO INJURED RIBS

Braddock's manager informed Reuter that Braddock fought with two injured ribs for which he was under the doctor's care for the past week unknown to anyone.

BAER TO QUIT RING

Broadcasting after the fight, Baer said that he would quit the ring, but the threat was not taken up seriously by the papers. Most critics think that Braddock is not a great champion but a more powerful hitter.

Reuter.

THE BOXERS TALK

New York, June 14.

Braddock said he knew he would win in the third round when Baer landed a hard right and did not floor him with "his Sunday punch."

The referee said that he had penalised Baer in six rounds for back-heading and other irregularities.

Baer was 5 to 1 favourite. There was tremendous excitement at the finish, even policemen and cameramen falling over each other as they clambered into the ring, while 40,000 yelled until they were hoarse.

Baer said after the fight that the front microphone satisfied the referee's decision. His left hand was swollen, but when asked whether his hands were injured, he replied "I have no allis." Baer was a real sportsman, embracing the successor to the title heartily and congratulating him on the victory. It is understood that he said to Braddock before the final round "good luck to you if you win the title."

The victory is a real godsend to Braddock, who has a wife and three children. They were in a poverty-stricken condition last year and it was only the fact that the landlord was a boxing fan which prevented Braddock from being turned out into the street as he rent was in arrears.

There was an incident in the twelfth round when Braddock's seconds leapt into the ring and threatened Baer for hitting after the bell had gone, but the trouble subsided when a policeman entered the ring.

Baer weighed in at 14 st. 13 1/2 lbs. and Braddock at 13 st. 9 1/2 lbs.

BRITISH MINISTERS SETTLE DOWN

London, June 13.

The Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, as Chancellor of the Cambridge University presided at the Convocation for the conferment of honorary degree this morning and later in the day returned to London.

MAX BAER

BIGGEST UPSET

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press").

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages, Ordinance, 1894. Received, June 13, 7.30 p.m.)

Berlin, June 14.

The defeat of the world heavyweight champion Max Baer by the veteran boxer Jimmy Braddock at New York on Thursday is causing a sensation in German sporting circles. "Gwoelfuhr Blatt" calling it the biggest upset in the history of boxing of the last decades. The paper points out that Max Schmeling also suffers from this denouncement since his projected return match with Baer is now out of the programme.

The leading sporting paper "Bezetzam Mittag" opines that Baer alone is to blame for his defeat and that Braddock, despite his victory and newly acquired title of heavyweight champion, cannot be classed as anything else but a second-rate boxer and his meteoric rise within the past year merely bears testimony to the

HOME CRICKET

Bowling Feat By Gover

London, June 13.

Surrey severely trounced Worcestershire in the County Cricket Championship to-day when A. R. Gover dismissed the opposition in the first innings for 73 runs at Worcester. The Surrey fast bowler captured eight of the wickets for 34 runs, including four with successive balls.

In reply Surrey knocked up 319 runs for nine wickets declared and then dismissed Worcestershire a second time for 270 runs. Gover had another four victims for 58.

Without loss Surrey knocked out the 30 runs for victory, thus winning by ten wickets.

FOURTH CENTURY

E. A. Rowan, the South African batsman, scored his fourth century of the tour when the tourists beat the Club Cricket Conference at Lord's by six wickets in what turned out to be a one day match.

The fixture was to have been played yesterday and to-day but owing to rain there was no play yesterday.

The Club Cricket Conference batted first and scored 89 runs. The South Africans lost three wickets in passing this total. However, they played out time and at the drawing of stumps had taken the score to 138 for four.

Rowan was thus able to score a century and when play closed he had 103 runs to his credit without having lost his wicket.

THE CALL OF CRICKET

Lack Of Leisure Plays Its Part

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, May 29.

There are still people who shudder when money is mentioned in the same breath with cricket. They think it is sacrilege for a beautiful game to be mixed up with sordid finance. But landlords, want rent, groundsmen do not work for nothing, and players expect to be kept in bread and cheese. That is why county clubs are placed in difficulties when bad weather comes to reduce "gates."

Little rain has fallen this month, but on many days intense cold has made it a pain rather than a pleasure to watch a cricket match, and there is a grave probability that on certain grounds attendances have already suffered to such an extent that some of the annual balance-sheets will make melancholy reading.

Among the "unfortunate" consequences of any season in which the county clubs do not pay their way is that the circumstance causes people who are mentally shortsighted to imagine that cricket is losing its attraction. They ignore the weather's influence, forget the blank days and the chilly mornings, and blame the way the game is played for the reduced revenue. The "reformers" thereupon seize the opportunity to shriek that the game is dying. They trot out all manner of schemes to "brighten" cricket, when what is really wanted is something to brighten the weather.

Considering that an icy temperature has made a fire-side more attractive than a county ground recently, crowds have been surprisingly good. And, even when the weather is fine, the wonder is that so many people can spare the time to see men hit a ball with a bat. At least ninety-nine per cent. of the population have to work hard for bread and house-rent. On week-days they are chained to office and shop and factory. It's lack of leisure, not lack of interest, that keeps down the number of spectators.

At the best the average onlooker suffers many discomforts for the sake of his cricket. He often travels a long distance; he goes without a proper lunch; at a big match he may have to stand the long day through, perhaps on tip-toe craning his neck; and if he happens to occupy a position more or less at right angles with the wicket on a ground of large acreage—Lord's, say, or the Oval, or Trent Bridge—he scarcely sees the ball as it travels from bowler's hand to bat blade. He does not know whether the batsman has patted a half-volley or stopped a snorting break-back, whether he has made a wild swipe or hit with discriminate violence.

THE IDEAL WATCH TOWER

The ideal place from which to watch a match is on the top of the pavilion, straight behind the bowler's arm. Few subtleties are lost up there. Swerve and break, all the finer points are made clear. The due between batsman and bowler is in its true perspective. Even the slowest play in attractive

DOCTORS DISCOVER
QUICKEST REMEDY
FOR INDIGESTION

Amazing evidence of the remarkable speed with which indigestion and stomach pains can be stopped has been revealed by medical experiments and numerous X-ray photographs of actual cases. These prove the ingredients of 'Bisurated' Magnesia to be the quickest-acting and most effective known to medical science. Within 5 minutes a teaspoonful of 'Bisurated' Magnesia in a little water produced complete relief in cases where numberless other remedies had failed entirely. 'Bisurated' Magnesia is a complete treatment for the relief of stomach troubles—in neutralises the harmful acids that cause the trouble and it spreads a soothing, protective film over the stomach lining. Leading Stomach specialists, doctors and hospitals use and recommend 'Bisurated' Magnesia because they are in touch with these latest developments of medical science.

You can get 'Bisurated' Magnesia powder or tablets from your chemist or store to-day, but be sure to look for oval 'BISMA' sign if you want the quickest-acting stomach remedy doctors know.

which you can follow every move of its "intricate, vigilant, and leisurely warfare."

But unfortunately not one man in a hundred has the luck to be entitled to a pavilion seat. The fact that so many are content to stand hour after hour when they can only obtain a superficial view of the play is a golden testimony of cricket's enduring fascination.

It is particularly unfortunate that cold has made the game uncomfortable to watch at a period marked by exciting finishes and sharp contrasts. So much of the unexpected, even the freakish, has entered that I hesitate to draw conclusions from individual performances or to predict a brilliant future for this or the other newcomer; but there have been signs that certain players who have remained at one stage for some time are moving forward at last, that some of the youngsters are discovering that to "cover-up" with persistency does not make a man a great batsman, and that even the county authorities are learning that to attempt to transform a natural blither into a coldly scientific defensive stickler is as absurd as to harness a Derby winner to a plough.

The time has not yet come to place "such a player as Gimblett, of Somerset, whose hundred, made in an hour at his first appearance, has unfortunately caused some people to boom him as if he were a new cinema star. Of the forty-two batsmen who scored a century in their opening first-class match, a big proportion did little afterwards; but Gimblett showed by his second innings, against Middlesex, played when he was handicapped by a badly injured leg, that he is a long way removed from the "bloomin' ard and bloomin' igh and bloomin' hofteh" brigade. The idea that he is an inspired rustic, who came straight from a village green to batter county bowling by means of wild unorthodoxy, can be given up at once. He has made many runs in good class club cricket; he has a well-conceived method; and he has plenty of strokes besides the high drive, which he uses with discretion. Yet, on the whole, he comes into the category of what are known as natural players. He has not suffered too much from coaches.

TACTICS TO STUDY

Others who have made their first hundred in county matches within the last few days are G. F. Heane, of Nottinghamshire, and Fishlock, of Surrey. Fishlock, a left-hander, is by no means a colt. His age is twenty-eight, and he made his entrance into first-class cricket in 1933; but although he scored 99 against Somerset last season, he has recently shown more freedom and variety of stroke than in other years. He has very strong forearms, and he hits the ball uncommonly hard through the covers—so unusual in a player of the younger school.

It has often been remarked that the English delight to praise the deeds of men of other countries at

GERMAN BANKER
PASSESSenior Partner In Mendelssohn

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, June 13.

Berlin papers on Thursday published long eulogies of Franz von Mendelssohn, the senior partner of the world famous Berlin banking house of that name, who died early on Thursday morning at the age of seventy.

The bank, one of whose founders was the father of the renowned composer, Mendelssohn enjoyed the reputation of financial strength and security during recent years of crisis which was enhanced by the high esteem in which the senior partner was held. Mendelssohn was the President of the German Association of the Chambers of Industries and Commerce for many years and was largely instrumental in the development of its significance. In addition to the manifold commercial activities as a noted banker he also found time to devote himself to science and arts, holding the honorary position as a member of learned societies, among which was the German Oriental Society of which he was one of the co-founders.

In 1913, he was elected a member of the Prussian Upper Chamber of the Eighteen Member Central Committee of the Reichsbank, receiving a seat on the board in 1924. His activity in charitable work could hardly be excelled and it was in keeping with his distinguished character that it was anonymous as far as possible. He himself was a violin virtuoso and he was a generous patron in every branch.

the expense of their own people, but it is no disparagement of the home-born supply to say that many of our players might benefit by a careful study of the batting methods of the South Africans. They are not, as a team, addicted to risks, they do not set themselves to produce runs with unusual quickness; but the best of them make even their back strokes from such a position that they can hit the ball, not merely deflect it, and they lift their bats to a reasonable height. The custom of raising the bat no higher than the angles—the Woodfull worm-killing method, in fact—has had too long an innings in England. Even the public-schools caught the craze.

The South Africans are also worth study for their running between wickets. No hesitation—each man trusts the judgment of his partner. Yet, alas! even our idols from overseas have now shown that they have some clay in their feet. Many people besides myself must have been astonished when they heard that the South African captain objected to the music of a band on the ground while his team were batting at Southampton. Is it the custom in South Africa for the guests to tell the host how to arrange his domestic affairs? And what is going to happen at Canterbury when our visitors play there in August? Canterbury without a band is unthinkable. Are they prepared to mar the festival because they are so temperamentally different from other cricketers that they imagine a strain of music will put them off the stroke? There have been bands on all the Kent grounds as far back as memory reaches; that has not prevented big scores from being made as usual by all sorts of cricketers, from W. G. Grace downwards. Those who have any acquaintance with the effects of bands will tell you that when batting they do not hear a note from the moment that the bowler begins his run. Concentration deadens them to everything except the ball. The South Africans seemed the least likely of men to be nervous or faddy. But, perhaps, the weather was to blame for that Southampton peevishness. Some of our icy blasts are calculated to disconcert anyone and to cause a fit of irritability such as attacks the best man as the worst, and quickly passes away.
